WINEMAKER NOTES

This property has an area of 200 hectares of which 70 are already planted with Malbec, Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot, Cabernet Sauvignon, Moscatel, Bonarda, Syrah and Tannat. 40 hectares are of Almond trees, and complementing the landscape we also have olive trees, poplars and rose bushes, each one with specific functions. The area is characterized by having a stony soil due to its proximity to the Mendoza River. It has a sandy and stony soil, of alluvial origin, with very good drainage, quite homogeneous in its composition. During the maturation period, the thermal amplitude can reach 23 degrees. For irrigation, water from 2 wells is used and it is carried to each plant through a pressurized system with drippers.

TASTING NOTES

This cabernet sauvignon has a great intensity of color with deep red and black tones. On the nose, notes of black and white pepper appear accompanied by a subtle aroma of chocolate and tobacco. On the palate it is persistent, fleshy, with round tannins, it is a long wine where aging in barrels provides that roundness and elegance.
