WINEMAKER NOTES

In the hills of the Provence countryside, near Brignoles in the small village of Correns, the Domaine Saint Andrieu was acquired in 2003 by Jean-Paul and Nancy Bignon, owners of Château Talbot, cru-classé de Saint Julien in Médoc. This wine is ready to be enjoyed now or can be kept for up to two years.

TASTING NOTES

Quintessential Provençal varieties (Grenache, Cinsault, Syrah) give this rosé a pale peach color. As with the aromas, the lively and expressive mouth reveals citrus notes such a pink grapefruit and a crisp, clean finish.

PRESS

"Brilliant salmon skin. Nery and sharply focused on the nose, displaying fresh pit fruit and red berry scents and a hint of orange peel. Lively red currant, strawberry and nectarine flavors slowly open up and deepen with air. Clings strongly on the finish, which leaves a refreshingly bitter peach pit note behind." - 91 points, Josh Reynolds, Vinous
